

Regarding COVID-19 (Coronavirus)

Dear Friends,

Morrison remains dedicated to the mental and physical well-being of our clients and community. As we continue to prioritize offering accessible care, we are ever grateful for your support amid the presence of COVID-19 (Coronavirus) in Oregon.

We are staying up to date on best practices for caring for our youth, families, community, and each other at this time. We have implemented multiple safeguards in all of our programs, which remain open. Our clinicians are offering essential services and connections through non face-to-face options. In acknowledgement of Governor Kate Brown's executive order on Monday, March 23rd, to "Stay Home, Save Lives," we continue to implement the necessary precautions to protect the health of our clients while remaining available to them.

While we maintain physical distance during this time, let us reach out and connect through remote alternatives. Text a friend with a kind message, call someone to check in, and utilize video messaging. Celebrate these ways in which we continue to come together. We at Morrison are embracing non face-to-face options for connection and encourage you to do the same.

Please take care, everyone, while we continue to be here for the community.
